IMPORTANT INFORMATION

Important Risk Disclosures

Please remember that all investments carry some level of risk, including the potential loss of principal invested. They do not typically grow at an even rate of return and may experience negative growth. As with any type of portfolio structuring, attempting to reduce risk and increase return could, at certain times, unintentionally reduce returns.

Separate Accounts is a product of Russell Investment Management, LLC ("RIM"). Each Separate Accounts ("Account") represents a composite of model portfolios provided by RIM. Because each client's investment is implemented and overseen by a third-party investment adviser serving as a "centralized portfolio manager," RIM provides no investment management services with respect to the accounts. Investment in one or more accounts is not a complete investment program.

Each client's investment in an Account is implemented and overseen by a third-party investment adviser that serves as a "centralized portfolio manager." As a result, neither RIM nor the third-party investment advisers that provide model portfolios for use in the Account provide any investment management services with respect to the Accounts. The centralized portfolio manager, in its implementation and ongoing management of an Account for a particular client, may pursue, among other things, tax management strategies that may involve trading restrictions and therefore affect performance results. A client's actual performance will differ from the Tax-Managed Large Cap SMA performance due to a number of factors, including, but not limited to, program or advisory fees and account related expenses, the client's investment restrictions, cash flows, timing of investments, rebalancing frequency, etc. These factors will differ across clients.

The S&P 500® Index: A free-float capitalization-weighted index published since 1957 of the prices of 500 large-cap common stocks actively traded in the United States. The stocks included in the S&P 500® are those of large publicly held companies that trade on either of the two largest American stock market exchanges: the New York Stock Exchange and the NASDAQ.
